Roosevelt Places Future Hopes in American System

Asks That Schools Help World Supplant Force With Reason

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—(Special)—"Let us hope that out of our schools may come a generation which can persuade a bleeding world to supplant force with reason," says President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his annual American Education Week message to the teachers and pupils of the American schools who are preparing for the annual observance of American Education Week, November 5-11.

An estimated ten million parents will visit their children's schools during American Education Week, see their sons and daughters at work in the classroom, meet the children's teachers, and learn something about modern educational systems. Founded in 1921, American Education Week is sponsored by the National Education Association and the American Legion, together with the United States Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

In keeping with the theme of the occasion, "Education for the American Way of Life," President Roosevelt says, "Let us take note, as we again observe American Education Week throughout our Nation, that education in our democracy teaches the practice of reason in human affairs. . . From kindergarten through college our schools train us to use the machinery of reason. . . This is education for the American Way of Life."

"To the resolution of conflicts and struggles of life, democracy supplies no easy answer. The easy answer, the quick but incomplete answer, is force; tanks and torpedoes, guns and bombs. Democracy calls instead for the application of the rule of reason to solve conflicts. These vital skills we Americans must acquire in our schools. . . In our schools our coming generations must learn the most difficult art in the world—the successful management of democracy."

Observance of American Education Week is usually accompanied by open house programs, entertainments by the schools, and meetings throughout the country of civic, social, and church groups devoted to consideration of the schools. One of the main objectives of this custom is to increase understanding and appreciation of the nation's schools by encouraging every parent to visit his child's school at least once annually.

Youths Take College Inventory, Survey Campus Grounds

During the past several weeks four young men have been taking inventory of materials and equipment on the College campus. These men, James Baker, James Elmore, Max Moore, and Carl Roberts are now surveying the grounds preparatory to making a map of the campus. Under the supervision of Mr. T. G. Reid, director of operations, they are getting first hand instruction in the use of surveying equipment.

All articles are checked and tagged and the record of them put on file in Mr. Reid's office. Property is coded, giving the year purchased, value, department, and building to which it belongs. Anyone wishing to locate an article belonging to the College will be able to secure information from one of the coded cards in Mr. Reid's office.

The map when completed will show the location of all buildings, light lines, telephone wires, water mains, steam tunnels, return lines, and walks. Roads will be drawn to scale and trees and shrubbery will be located as nearly as possible.

The surveying begins with a central bench mark, and all elevations will be given in relation to this mark. The elevation of the floors of all buildings and the depth of transit tunnels will be given. Contour lines will be placed on the map on each foot to show the direction of drainage of the entire campus.

According to Mr. Reid, this map will greatly facilitate in taking inventory and in making estimates for supplies and material in the future.

High School Honor Roll Is Announced

Grade cards have been issued recently by Mr. H. R. Dieterich for the first six weeks' work in the Horace Mann High School. Those students comprising the first honor roll, which is made up of those making 85 or above in all four subjects taken during the quarter, are:

Seniors—Belvidene Crain, Esther Ean Hall, Belva Dene Holmes, Mildred Raso; Juniors, James Carter, Vivian Fink, Laura Greenwood, John Hengeler, Marjorie Mitchell, Virginia Moody.

Sophomores—Mary Gates, Sarah Jensen, Walter Nicholson, Frances Pfander, Gaylord Jensen; Freshmen—Hilda Davidson, Herbert Dieterich, Pauline Buff, Jean Hansen, Mary Frances Buff, Irene Mumford, Paul Tudder, and Beatrice Turner.

The second honor roll consists of those making an average of 85 in all four subjects taken. Students comprising the second honor roll are:

Seniors—Lloyd McClurg, Marceline Icke, Mary Zoa Willson, Helen Wright; Juniors—Mabel Carmichael, Mary Alice Fink, Oleta McClurg, Earl Pope, Beverly Ann Richards, Deloris Watkins.

Transformers For New Library Arrive

An article in last week's issue of the Missourian stated that the transformers had not come for use in lighting the new library. They have arrived, however, and the new library will be lighted as soon as a heavy cable necessary to carry the load to the library arrives.

Says Neutrality Law Will Not Keep U. S. Out of War

Dr. Kleinpell Talks About National Issue Before SSIRC Members

Dr. E. H. Kleinpell, head of the department of social science, speaking before the Social Science-International Relations Clubs, said that the present neutrality legislation was an outgrowth of the Dies Investigation Committee. He said that Mr. Dies' theory was that the United States bankers had loaned money to the Allies and we had to go into the European War to assure our chances of making our investments secure.

Dr. Kleinpell stated that since 1919 in general, and since 1929 in particular, the world has been suffering from industrial indigestion. He went further to say that the present European belligerents had spent a decade putting their present actions on a normal basis.

"Putting a law on the statute books is not going to keep us out of war," commented Dr. Kleinpell on the present neutrality legislation. Our neutrality discussion is dead now and we are debating on what we are going to do if England loses her present conflict with Germany," he said.

There are two theories, the speaker said, which have to do with our national vital interests. One of these is the "collective security" theory and the other is the "isolation" theory.

Dr. Kleinpell in closing stated that there were three points that we must consider in our study of American neutrality. These are: Our staying out of war is not going to be decided when the neutrality bill becomes a law; a decision should be made as to what constitutes our vital interests; and school teachers should teach their pupils to think with their minds, instead of with their emotions.

College Newspaper Is Read in Many States and Abroad

Many students gather in the hall of the second floor of the Administration Building on publication day of the Missourian, and often times have to wait to get their paper. A member of the College administration staff, who was several hundred miles away from the College, last week had to wait for his copy of the paper also.

Mr. R. E. Baldwin, College registrar, who has been on his vacation, was in Springfield, S. Dak., at the Southern State Normal and according to Mr. Baldwin, he had to wait several minutes there for another person to read the Missourian, before he could read it himself.

South Dakota is not the only place in the world where such a thing could happen.

"This quarter the Northwest Missourian is being read in thirty states and two foreign countries. Missouri leads with nearly seven hundred copies; Iowa is second with eighty-seven, followed by California, Michigan, and Kansas. England receives two copies and Puerto Rico one."

Papers are sent to New York in the east, Georgia in the south, California in the west, and Minnesota in the north. These simple facts indicate that the Missourian is read in many states as well as here at the College.

Eight Students Attend Baptist Convention

Eight College students and one Maryville High School student attended the Baptist Student Union Convention held last week in St. Louis. More than seven hundred students attended the convention held in the First Baptist Church there.

College students attending were: Verdel Simms, Franklin Ewing, James Elmore, Forrest Barnes, Leo Sparks, Ruth Goodspeed, Frank Baker, and Mrs. Elsie Zimmerman.

Sunday night, November 5, these students will each deliver a four minute address on some phase of the Convention at the Maryville Baptist Church.

Maxine Nash Fills Vacancy

Maxine Nash, of Norborne has been named by the Student Senate to fill the vacancy in the College Social Committee left when Mary Frances Barrock recently resigned. Miss Barrock withdrew her name from the position in accordance with the ruling made by the Senate limiting students to a certain number of offices in campus organizations.

Writers' Club Meets Monday

The Writers' Club, which will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the apartment of Miss Mattie M. Dykes, 611 North Buchanan Street, will have a full program this week. Besides the regular presentation of original manuscripts and the criticism of them, the club will have some special poems from an assignment made at the last meeting. If there is time, the club will read and discuss some creative work sent to it by a young man and young lady in another state. These people have asked for the criticism of the club upon their work.

At the last meeting, Eleanor Calfee, was named chairman of the club for the present quarter; Helen Cline was made historian.

Bearcat Fans Talk of Post Season Battle

Local Eleven Still Remains Undeclared, Untied Since 1937

Bearcat fans, loyal supporters of a successful Teachers' College eleven, who have not lost a battle on the gridiron since the 1937 season, have been doing a great deal of thinking lately about the Prune Bowl game in California.

Last year, when the Bearcats did not lose a single encounter, there was talk of a post-season game with San Jose, Cal., college. The Bowl game seems more probable this year, as the Bearcats continue in their winning streak, and have amassed a total of 129 points to their opponents' 7.

Bud Schwenk, Washington university sophomore star, has been the only player to cross the Bearcat goal line this year. This score came as a result of a freak run in the early part of the game, but the Bearcats surprised the St. Louis players to come from behind and win that game, 8 to 7.

Better Than K. State? Then Washington U. trounced over Creighton 42 to 12; Creighton downed Drake university; and Drake defeated Kansas State. Just where that places the Bearcats in higher football circles is a good indication of the power and determination of the little teachers' college eleven.

Maryville has already played six games this season, and has run a winning streak up to fifteen consecutive victories. The Bearcats' scores this season are:

Bearcats 7, Tahlequah 0.
Bearcats 9, Washington 0.
Bearcats 48, Sioux Falls 0.
Bearcats 21, Springfield 0.
Bearcats 17, Rolla 0.
Bearcats 27, Chadron 0.

The undefeated, untied Bearcats meet the Cape Girardeau Indians at Cape tonight in a conference tilt which promises to be a rough battle. At present Cape holds first place honors with the Bearcats in the M. I. A. A. rankings.

The Bearcats have only two games after they play Cape. They play Kirksville here on November 10, and Warrensburg there on November 17. Both are conference games.

Coach Milner refuses to say there will be any post-season game for the Bearcats, but if the local team is still undefeated, untied after the next three games, it is thought that there will be more to be said about such an encounter in the near future.

Three Cheerleaders Selected by Senate

Cheerleaders for the Bearcat cheering sections were elected last Monday evening by the Student Senate. Ruthie Kelley of St. Joseph was named a new member to the group of three to succeed Mary Jeanette Anthony of Maryville.

Other cheerleaders who were re-elected are Richard Stephenson of Bethany and Chalmers Corrington of Maryville.

Baldwins Return From Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Baldwin returned last week from a ten days' vacation trip through Iowa, Minnesota, and South Dakota. They visited relatives and friends on their trip, and Mr. Baldwin also did some hunting.

As a climax to their trip they attended the "homecoming" at the University of South Dakota, Mr. Baldwin's alma mater. While he was a student there, Mr. Baldwin served as secretary to the president of the University.

TED SHAWN'S ENSEMBLE OF MEN DANCERS—"Kinetic Tolpal" a suite of dances in "O, Libertad!" An American saga in three acts.

Ted Shawn's Male Dancing Group Will Appear on Stage November 28

Comes to America After Success in London, England

Ted Shawn, America's foremost male dancer, who recently achieved a brilliant success at His Majesty's theater, in London, will appear in the College auditorium at 8 o'clock, on November 28. Shawn will be supported by his company of eight male dancers. They comprise the only male dancing group in the world.

Shawn has been on tour with this company for three seasons, playing to capacity houses in the United States, Canada, Cuba, and abroad. Of the eight young men who make up the group this year, all but three of the group participated in the notable Boston performance in 1933 when Ted Shawn's classes presented the first entire program of dances given, exclusively by men in an American theater. All of the dancers were athletes in college, representing every section of the country.

Ted Shawn's program is a new ballet called, "O, Libertad!" It is made up of dances created by Shawn and music by Jess Meeker, the accompanist.

The dance drama will cover a wide range of subjects from the barbaric splendor of Aztec civilization to modern rhythms and abstract themes. Bitter tragedy, religious fanaticism, romanticism, humor, satire have gone into the choreographic patterns of Shawn's new ballet.

Admission to the performance will be by activity tickets for college students, or by activity tickets plus fifteen cents for reserved seats if reservation is made before the evening of November 28 at Kuchs Bros. Public admission including reserved seats will be one dollar. High school students in groups of ten may secure a special rate of forty cents in groups of ten students, reserved blocks of tickets to be secured through Roy Ferguson, State Teachers College.

Radio Guild Will Present Broadcast

The radio guild of Horace Mann Laboratory School will observe National Education Week, November 5 to 11, by presenting a program over radio station KFEQ in St. Joseph. The program will be broadcast tomorrow afternoon from 4:30 to 5 o'clock.

"Glimpses of Bygone Days" will be given by four girls, who have retired to the attic of an old southern home and have started to explore the contents of an old trunk. Those participating will be Cleta McClurg, Eva Mae Huff, Dorothy Young, and Ruby and Marjorie Mitchell.

Ola Mae Lincoln, Laura Greenwood, and Vivian Fink will present "Tenets of the Time." Their discussions will cover the following topics: "Disciplinary Measures," "Educational Practices," and "Religious Beliefs."

Marjorie Mitchell, Beverly Ann Richards, and Virginia Moody will present a skit contrasting "The Three R's," reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic of the old days with rotation, research, and release of the present.

The radio guild will present another educational program over KNOX in Jefferson City, from three until three-thirty o'clock on Sunday, November 12.

Winners Announced—Other Prizes Offered

It was announced at the beginning of the month that prizes of one dollar each would be offered for the best piece of writing published in the Northwest Missourian during October in each of the following classes: editorial, feature story, news story, sports article, literary matter.

A judge having no connection with the Missourian staff has picked the winners in this contest and announces them as follows:
Editorial—Virgil Elliott: "Old Habits Are Hard to Break Away From, but—" October 6.
News Story—Eleanor Calfee: "German Students Praise America at Joint Meeting," October 6.
Feature Story—Marjorie Perry, "Drama in Two Acts Describes How the Lost Was Found Again, October 6."

Sports Story—Virgil Elliott: "His Determination Makes Albany Football Player a Hero," October 20.
Informal Essay—Phyllis Taylor: "The Literary Scrubwoman," October 27.

During November, prizes will be awarded (1) for the most column inches used from the work turned in by any person exclusive of the editor-in-chief, each person to measure up his stuff for the month and submit it to the editorial council; (2) for the best interview story; (3) for the most interesting write-up of a campus personality, or a local college activity, or a subject of general college interest; (4) for the best sports article; (5) for the best work in creative writing—poetry, informal essay, short story.

Editors Award Contract for Tower Printing

It was announced today by Dick Dempsey, editor of the 1940 Tower, that the printing contract had been let to the Combe Printing Company in St. Joseph. Student pictures were taken last week with a total of 750 students having their pictures taken.

Next week the faculty will start having their pictures taken for the Tower.

Any one who has not as yet received his or her proofs may do so by seeing Ed Godsey, at this office in the Maryville Daily Forum building, or the editor, at the College.

United Airlines Offers Aviation Scholarships

The United Air Lines Transport Corporation is offering four scholarships to deserving college men who have decided on aviation as a vocation. The contests for the scholarships are open to any undergraduate student of good standing who is a member of a recognized university college or junior college.

Candidates for the scholarships must submit a treatise of not more than 3,500 words, on some technical or non-technical aeronautical subject.

The scholarships have a total tuition value of $11,500 and winners must enroll in the class starting July 1, 1940.

The University of Cincinnati has organized a looper's club to plan spare-time activities for students.

College Plans to Observe Nat'l Education Week

Program for Each Day Outlined by Miss Hazel Burns

The College, the Horace Mann Laboratory School, and various organizations in Maryville will observe American Education Week from November 5 till 11, according to Miss Hazel Burns, chairman program committee.

The general theme for the week is "Education for the American Way of Life." Miss Burns said that each day of the week will hear a special theme as follows: Sunday, The place of religion in our democracy; Monday, education for self realization; Tuesday, education for human relationships; Wednesday, education for economic efficiency; Thursday, education for civic responsibility; Friday, cultivating the love of learning; and Saturday, education for freedom.

The radio guild of the Horace Mann Laboratory School will present a radio program over KFEQ, in St. Joseph tomorrow afternoon from four-thirty until five o'clock, and also another program November 11 from Jefferson City.

The College observed the National Week by presenting an assembly program this week.

Several civic organizations will observe the week in Maryville. Sunday the churches will preach on "Religion in a Democracy." It has been announced that the Rotary and Lions Clubs will both emphasize education in their weekly meetings.

Announce Winners

Winners in this week's Bookstore drawing were Florence McEvoy, Mildred Clark, and Leo Sparks. These winners receive twenty-five cents in trade at the Bookstore.

News Flash! Mr. Cooper's Fish Has Been Returned! Finder Gets Money!

Just as the Missourian is going to press comes the late news flash that Mr. Bert Cooper's fish has been found. Rumor has it that the persons guilty of stealing the fish had no part in returning it to Mr. Cooper and are, therefore, ineligible to collect the reward offered for its return. Furthermore, it develops that they are the ones who have really been worrying about the fish, that they are the ones who were offering the reward. Just how much each of the guilty ones paid into the fund has not been disclosed, but if the finder claims the reward he will have, it is rumored, a neat little sum.

The facts in the story are startling, weird, bizarre. Mr. Cooper, proud of his catch, had the fish mounted in order to prove the veracity of his story about the size of the said fish. Even in the face of such evidence it seems that certain persons, whose names have not been made public, filled with envy, doubt, and greed, decided to try to prove Mr. Cooper's story in some of its details. Envy led to crime—these persons could not resist taking the fish, probably to use as future proof for the veracity of their own fish stories. Be that as it may, the fish disappeared, and an enlarged section of an anglerworm, labeled "Fish Bait," was found in its place. All of that took place on October 13.

The next event that became known was that the robbers had been robbed. The fish had disappeared a second time. There was real consternation in the camp of the robbers, for Mr. Cooper was beginning to suggest that he expected to use drastic measures to discover and punish the guilty parties. Finally, he issued a call to the suspected persons to contribute to a fund to be

Story Behind Resignations From Offices

Senate Rulings Made After All-College Survey Last Spring

Three students have resigned from official positions in campus organizations as a result of the new ruling made last spring by the Student Senate in regard to limitation of the number of offices each student may hold. Marjorie Powell has resigned as reporter for the Dance Club. Mary Frances Barrock has resigned as member of the Social Committee. Virgil Elliott has resigned as vice-president of the Independent Club.

Recently the Extra-Curricular Recorder has informed the Student Senate that there are several students on the campus who, according to the SGA constitution, are holding too many offices in campus organizations. The Senate has informed these persons and has asked them to resign from at least one of these organizations. Those persons so informed have resigned.

Behind these rulings, made by the Student Governing Association, there lies one of the major problems on the campus. It presents an interesting story in student government work.

Senate Makes Survey
Last year the Senate conducted a survey to see how many students offices in campus organizations, how many persons held offices in these organizations, and how many different types of officers there were on the campus.

The results of the survey were startling. It was found that not quite sixty per cent of College students participated in extra-curricular activities.

The Senate also found that during the winter term there were 376 students, or 41.2 per cent of the total enrollment, who did not participate in any kind of extra-curricular activity. In contrast to this, there were forty-one students belonging to five or more organizations each.

One Belonged to Ten
Further startling facts were these: Eight students belonged to seven or more organizations; one student belonged to ten organizations; fifteen students held twenty major offices in campus organizations; five persons held two major offices each; one person held four major offices; and four minor offices.

The Senate at once made the recommendation that some students be limited from holding too many official positions in campus organizations, and that there was a need for both stimulation and limitation in regard to membership in such organizations.

To make their recommendations effective, the Senate passed a ruling stating that "no student shall hold more than two major offices, or one major office and two minor offices, or three minor offices at any one time during the college year." The Senate then listed twenty-five

Message Received From President Roosevelt Expresses Hope That Education in Our Democracy Will Teach Reason in Human Affairs

The White House
Washington, D. C.
October 2, 1939

To the Patrons, Students, and Teachers of American Schools:

Let us take note, as we again observe American Education Week throughout our Nation, that education in our democracy teaches the practice of reason in human affairs.

I refer not only to education that may come from books. I include education in fair play on the athletic field and on the debating platform; I include education for tolerance through participation in full, free discussion in the classroom. Practice in the scientific method of our young people may be more important than learning the facts of science. From kindergarten through college our schools train us to use the machinery of reason; parliamentary practice; the techniques of cooperation; how to accept with good grace the will of a majority; how to defend by logic and facts our deep convictions. This is education for the American way of life.

Our schools also bring us face to face with men and women with whom we shall share life's struggle of every individual against the stream of life; the struggle and competition among individuals, groups, institutions, States, and nations. To the resolution of conflicts and struggles of life, democracy supplies no easy answer. The easy answer, the quick but incomplete answer, is force; tanks and torpedoes, guns and bombs. Democracy calls instead for the application of the rule of reason to solve conflicts. It calls for fair play in canvassing facts, for discussion, and for calm and orderly handling of difficult problems. These vital skills we Americans must acquire in our schools.

In our schools our coming generations must learn the most difficult art in the world—the successful management of democracy. Let us think of our schools during this American Education Week not only as buildings of stone and wood and steel; not only as places to learn how to use hand and brain; but as training centers in the use and application of the rule of reason in the affairs of men. And let us hope that out of our schools may come a generation which can persuade a bleeding world to supplant force with reason.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Saturday Classes Would Affect Small Group of Students Working Downtown

Last week on this page we carried an article which referred to the values to students in remaining on the campus over the week-end. It was pointed out that perhaps a solution to this problem was having classes on Saturday mornings.

The editors of this paper have been pleased to know that students have been discussing this problem. It appears that students have expressed their opinion, especially on the plan of having classes on Saturday, there has been much discussion.

One question we have been asked, What would those students do who have to work downtown on Saturdays? No one seemed to know just how much this would affect the plan. So we decided to do a little investigating of our own.

In a few minutes we found out that about thirty-five students are working downtown on Saturday. When figuring percentages this makes it about three per cent of the student body. Thus it is readily seen that those who argue the point that classes on Saturday would be impossible because students are working downtown that day, are talking only of the three per cent instead of the other ninety-seven per cent.

Of course we believe in being considerate of the minorities, but we live in a world today which believes that what is best for the greatest number is best for all.

It would be well to point out again that classes on Saturday would not more work for College students. It would merely mean readjustment of time periods over a period of six days instead of five. It would be logical to assume that by stretching out the work week, it would work to the advantage of both the student and faculty member.

In many colleges and universities classes meet on Saturdays the same as other days of the week. On two Saturdays last summer classes met at the College here.

It is hoped that as the discussion continues here on the pros and cons of the plan, students will do some thinking before they express their opinion. There are good reasons for both sides.

So please be open-minded.

Sunday Afternoons May Be Spent in Recreational Reading at New Library

Since school began in September there has been considerable discussion among the student body about having the library open for use on Sunday afternoons. This policy was adopted by the administration last week.

As announced the library will also be opened on Friday nights as soon as equipment arrives. However, we cannot expect it to remain open if the students do not make use of this added opportunity.

Having the use of the library on Sundays is an advantage to those students who go home every week-end. Those who desire to do recreational reading may do so at their leisure during the week-end.

Students who work on Saturday and at night may study on Sunday afternoon in the inviting surroundings of the new library. At the close of the quarter when term papers are being written and examinations are nearing, Sunday is an excellent time to do reference work with the material offered by the library.

All students are urged to show their appreciation of the administration's generosity by using the library on Sunday as well as during the school week. It will remain open as long as the student body is willing to accept the facilities offered them.

Here Is a Second to One Senate Recommendation Made Last Year

In a front page story in this issue, mention is made of the results of the survey made last year by the Student Senate in regard to students and participation in extra-curricular organizations. We are referring to that story here only in regard to one point.

According to this report there were approximately thirty per cent of the entire student body, or about 260 students at that time, who did not not belong to even one campus organization.

The Senate has recommended that every student should belong to at least one campus organization in order to broaden his interests and provide for him a well-rounded college program.

To this recommendation we wish to give our hearty approval.

Headed for the Prune Bowl They Do Their Playing in Dust Bowl

Remark heard at the Maryville-Chadron game: Maryville may be headed for the Prune Bowl, but they are sure playing in the dust bowl tonight.

And how true that statement was, those in the bleachers could only know by the dust clouds that they could see. On the playing field two teams must have had very parched throats from all the dust that was in the air.

During the basketball season much care is taken to see that the playing floor is well varnished and not marked up by leather soles. Tennis courts are rolled and sprinkled. But because of dry weather, the athletic field is very dusty, and nothing is being done about it.

Providing there is no rain in the next few days, the field is likely to present the appearance of a "dust bowl" again when the Kirksville Bulldogs invade the Bearcat camp here November 10.

Why couldn't the football field be sprinkled?

Editorial Comment Continues to Express Opinion of Arms Embargo

(By the Associated Collegiate Press)

As the fight on the arms embargo continues to occupy the forces in congress, the front pages of the newspapers and the minds of all U. S. citizens, so too does it dominate the political thinking of collegians.

A tabulation of the polls taken on various college campuses indicates that the students favor the maintenance of the present embargo law by a vote of better than 2 to 1. These polls, though not representing a large enough sampling to be entirely reliable, were taken on campuses in all sections of the country, and certainly indicate a trend of thought among collegians.

So far as the college press is concerned, editorials written to date show that there is about a 7 to 3 ratio in favor of retention of the present arms embargo.

Criticism Asked by National Educational Association on "Air Conditioned Learning"

Washington.—Faculty members of teacher training institutions and students in those schools are invited to give critical appraisal of "air conditioned learning" as a practical tool of education. Radio programs broadcast as aids to classroom teaching may be heard during the present school year on the American School of the Air, presented by the National Education Association, professional organization of teachers, in cooperation with the Columbia Broadcasting System. Invitations to audition and to suggest means of improving these programs have been extended by the National Education Association to the appropriate officials in all teachers' colleges in the United States.

The departments of education of four states, Texas, Utah, Illinois and West Virginia, have included in their announcements of educational radio programs for classroom purposes the American School of the Air, and it is widely used in the schools of other states.

In many schools the half-hour radio lessons coming four days a week are preceded and followed by activity and study appropriate to the program of the day. Suggested teaching plans and outlines of all broadcasts are available to teachers free in an attractive manual of the American School of the Air, published by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Broadcast with the aid of professional technicians, authors, explorers, scientists, journalists and other specialists, the American School of the Air, through programs sent into thousands of classrooms throughout the country is vitalizing geography, science, literature, current events, human relationships, and governmental functions through skillful interpretation and dramatization.

Programs are heard on local radio stations of the Columbia Broadcasting System from 9:15 to 9:45 a. m. in the eastern time zone; from 2:30 to 3:00 p. m. in the central time zone, from 1:30 to 2:00 p. m. in the mountain time zone; and from 2:30 to 3:00 p. m. in the pacific time zone.

Broadcast every Tuesday is Folk Music of America, a program of folk music and folk literature designed for the upper elementary grades, junior and senior high schools. On Wednesday new Horizons a program of geography and science directed by the world-famous scientist-explorer, Roy Andrews, is broadcast for the elementary grades and junior high school.

Tales from Far and Near on Thursday is planned for the elementary grades and consists of dramatized children's stories from many lands. The final broadcast each week is in This Living World, a social science program describing and interpreting current affairs for upper elementary grades, junior and senior high schools.

Students, Here Is One Thing 'Very' Important

Now and then an article appears which says more emphatically than our teachers can say it a thing which needs to be said. Now our composition teachers may tell us that "very" weakens many a sentence, but we blithely keep on using the word. What if our sentences are weak? But when Alexander Woolcott says "The excessive use of 'very' imparts to any text an accent of girlish gush," we he-men, at least are going to sit up and take notice.

If we take him at his word, we may "swear off using 'very' for a year." Think of the sentences we are going to refrain from writing: "We had a very good time," "I love you very much," "I shall be very glad to come."

If we are going to avoid this girlish gush we are going to have to do more thinking than some of us are now doing. Mr. Woolcott goes on to say that "total abstinence is this matter often compels the practitioner to think (in order to say) precisely what he means." Sometimes words owe their vogue, Mr. Woolcott believes, to the fact that "they can be airily tossed about by a writer too lazy to do either."

A little thinking before we speak or write would be good for most of us. If we form the habit in order to eliminate many of the "very's" from our expression, written or oral, the habit may carry over to even more important things.

Around The Campus

Another Friday, another deadline, another headache. S. T. C. still undefeated, midterms over, cold weather here, and so we stumble into another trying period of attempting to grind out six long pages of copy.

The YW and the YM are inaugurating a new policy on the campus, that we can only hope will be followed by more organizations on the campus in their social affairs. They are having a really, really formal dinner, and not one that looks like a cross between an afternoon tea and a carnival. There will be no "theme" to call forth elaborate and, in a manner of speaking, rococo decorations. An orchid to these organizations for instituting a practice of having an affair formal, as only simple things in good taste can be.

Remark overheard during the last half of the last quarter of the game last Friday night when both teams were stalling for time: "Looks like they can filibuster in football, too."

Well, midterm examinations are over, blue slips are framed and red slips are burned. These slips should prove a challenge to anyone who received either; the blue as a challenge to carry on the work you have done, and not to go into a slump because you think you have an H all set, and the red slips a challenge to prove that you can pass the course even with a bad start. The blue is the universal color for first prize, and the red is the universal color for caution, and may I repeat that both are a challenge to the student to either to maintain good work or to prove capability of better work. (You will note that I have used "red" slips in place of the "pink" slip, because I was informed the other day that they were supposed to be red, but that pink was the closest to the desired color that could be obtained in mimeograph paper.)

Dean Jones told me something in connection with warning slips that might be of interest to you. He said that in former days the warning slip was called "smoke-up" by the unfortunate student who received one. Upon my asking why they were called by this rather irrelevant title, he replied that the warning caused the student to turn up his kerosene lamp and burn a little midnight oil. Interesting, eh? And applicable, too.

Since this is my column—which I may use for gripes, if I choose—I'd like to wonder pensively just why it is we have to have new Tower pictures taken each year. I look just about the same as I did last year with the addition of a line or two and four gray hairs, but even at that, I'm not so fond of my own photo that I want to have it snapped again every year. I wish the Tower staff would answer this question for me, just to satisfy my curiosity.

I am sorely tempted to make nasty cracks about the enthusiasm at the games last Friday, but it's getting so that the students just accept such remarks as a necessary evil and go on their lackadaisical ways. Small boys raise more pep at a horse opera when the villain appears on the scene than a thousand students do when their own friends and classmates are battling on the gridiron for the honor of the school and stuff. I guess everyone just seems to feel that; having paid the admission price, nothing more is required of them. Lex Blankenship and I lose our voices at every game, which is perhaps carrying vim and vigor a little too far; but perhaps if we could only strike a happy medium with the rest of the students, we could stir them from their calm and untroubled composure.

This column has been a personal scream from beginning to end, but I think a lot of you will join me in what I've said. I don't want to make anyone angry, but I'd very much like to make a lot of people think.

This ends my weekly stint at the typewriter, and I'm all burned out. Yours fussily until next week.

The Stroller

The girls at the Dorm want a course in "Marriage and Homemaking" to be given at this college. The Stroller then supposes that a typical marriage proposal in the future will be:

Oh, mine, my dear, you'll have to be, For I, in "Marriage," made an E.

Day after day the Stroller buys cokes in the Bookstore, but he never wins a quarter in trade. He thinks maybe if he drew the names he might have better luck.

It's all over town that Mr. Sturley celebrated Halloween last Monday night. The Stroller thinks he must have mixed up Halloween with this year's uncertain Thanksgiving date.

Somebody said in the Stroller's presence, "Let's have a little more dirt in the Stroller column." The Stroller knows you have to eat a peek of dirt before you die and does not care to have a part in speeding up your kicking off.

In case you haven't noticed, the Stroller suggests that you take a look at the new flame of the Dorm girls. He is none other than Harold ("Hutch") Hutcheson.

The Stroller has heard that Edith Steele is the most studious freshman on the campus. She even had an assistant to help her study at the public library.

What do you suppose our editor-in-chief is Crowing about now?

The Stroller wonders who really is the Sports editor—Maxine Nash or Kenneth Tehow? Hook out, Kenny! Ever hear of Sadie Hawkins?

When Mr. Colbert in his assembly speech said, "Dumb-bell swinging" was part of the work in the early days of the college, the Stroller thought it might be a good idea to revive it in the present day. But he fears to work for it for fear he might be the first one swung.

Just when the Stroller thought he was on the scent of a good joke, he discovered it was only paint. The Phi Sigs think a certain pledge of theirs was so smart with his wise crack that they have all taken to painting and they make the pledge guess what each canvas represents. One Phi Sig spent all Sunday afternoon painting a portrait of his latest date, and the pledge, when asked to tell what the picture was, said, "Looks like a smokestack to me!" Question now is, who was the date?

Latest addition to the list of people who used to be home-bodies and who now get around—Mary Lou Melvin.

Verlin Powers has started looking back to Cameron again, so, a little bird whispered to the Stroller.

Harold Brueggeman, WHAT'S NEW? How's that Romance comin' through?

Campus Groups Form Various Clubs Asserting Beliefs on War Question

As always happens when a great political or social question faces the nation, college students are today forming organizations to influence the opinion of their fellow students on the questions of war and neutrality.

At Princeton University, undergraduates have formed "The American Independence League," which is "dedicated to the purpose of revealing, strengthening and expressing the determination of the American people to keep out of the European war." The League already counts one-third of Princeton's student body as members, and a second chapter of the organization has been formed on the Harvard University campus. Incidentally, national headquarters of the new organization are in the offices formerly occupied by the Veterans of Future Wars, now defunct.

Not quite so serious, but just as interesting, are two other proposals that have made their appearance in the last week or two. In the University of Pittsburgh's towering Cathedral of Learning there has sprung up the "Loyal Order of Sons of Leavenworth," whose slogan is "If America goes to war, we go to Leavenworth."

Here's an interesting paragraph from a letter explaining the organization: "Hurry! Form your own District Cell of the Loyal Order of Sons of Leavenworth! Pick your cell-mate while you may. Write now for your free membership card entitling you to all the privileges of our future home. Write today to ask any questions you may wish about our secret shuffle, our national symbol—the ball and chain—or any other practices of our exclusive Order."

All College Dancette Begins This Afternoon at 4 o'Clock

Social Committee Sponsors Affair in Old West Library

This afternoon, from 4 until 6 o'clock, a dancette, sponsored by the Student Social Committee, will be given for all students and faculty members in the old West Library of the Administration Building.

The College dance orchestra, under the direction of Mr. John W. Geiger, will play for dancing.

Chaperons for the first hour of the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Surray, and for the second hour, Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Saylor.

This dance is the first in a series of dancettes which will be given at intervals throughout the school year, if the plan meets with the approval of the students.

The Student Social Committee, composed of Paul Tracy, chairman; Maxine Nash, Alice Woodside, J. Glaze Baker, Crystal Cooper, Wes McClarin, and Mildred Hackett, will be in charge of arrangements for each of the dances.

Admission cards must be presented at the door for admission and those who wish to bring guests must secure guest cards at the office of the director of personnel for women. The number of guests will be limited and there will be a charge of fifteen cents for each guest.

Hall Entertains Varsity Villagers

The women of Residence Hall entertained the members of the Varsity Villagers Association at an informal Halloween dinner Monday evening, from 5 until 8 o'clock.

The guests were admitted to the hall through the windows, and were then conducted on a tour through the building. Dinner was served cafeteria style to the guests and their hostesses. Following dinner there was dancing in the parlor, and the services of fortune tellers were available.

Mary Madgett, social chairman of the hall, was in charge of arrangements for the party.

Newman Club Holds Party at Clubhouse

Members of the Newman Club held a party last evening at the Club house on West Third street. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing.

Several social functions have been planned by the members of the club for this year, one of which will be a formal initiation party to be given in two weeks.

Freshman Have Party

The freshman class of the Horace Mann High School held a party Friday afternoon from 1 to 3 o'clock in the old West Library. The time was spent in playing games. Chairmen of the committees planning the party were entertainment, Jimmy Kelly; invitation, Irene Mumford; and refreshment, Charlene Wright.

Charles Churchill and Alice Woodside, sponsors of the freshman class were in charge of the party.

Miss Mattie M. Dykes and her wedding, Jean Dykes, attended a dinner Sunday in honor of the golden anniversary of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Martin of King City.

Alpha Sig, Sigma Tau Pledges Will Give Dance for Actives

Active members of Alpha Sigma Alpha and Sigma Tau Gamma, national social sorority and fraternity on the campus, will be honor guests at a formal dance to be given by the pledges of the two organizations on Saturday night, November 11, from 9 to 12:30 o'clock in the old west library of the Administration Building.

The College dance orchestra, under the direction of Mr. John W. Geiger, will play for dancing.

Ruthie Kelly and Jim Cook, pledge presidents of the two organizations, are in general charge of the arrangements for the dance. Other committees and their chairmen are as follows: Decorations, Marjorie Johnston; invitations, Zelma Campbell; and entertainment, Nancy Schnabel.

Sorority to Hold Breakfast Dance

Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma will hold its annual breakfast dance at the Country Club, Saturday morning, November 11, from 7 to 10 o'clock. June Ernst, social chairman, is in general charge of the dance. Margaret Wilson, chairman; Mary Madgett, and Francis Pyle will make plans for the decorations.

Will Entertain at Bridge Luncheon

Misses Ruth Villars, Marian Kerr, and Dorothy Truex will be hostesses at a bridge luncheon, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at Residence Hall.

The guests will include, the Misses Margaret Ruth Smith, Anna M. Painter, Chloe Millikan, Mary Fisher, Ruth Miller, and Wincie Ann Carruth, and Mrs. Fred Waggoner, Mrs. R. E. Baldwin, Mrs. Ralph Berger, Mrs. Jack Carson, Mrs. Frank Garten, Mrs. W. N. Stalcup, and Mrs. J. W. Jones.

Committee Meeting Called for Tuesday

All of the committees for the Varsity Villagers tea which is to be given on November 12 are asked to meet with the council on Tuesday, November 7, at 4 o'clock in Social Hall.

All others who are planning to attend the tea are invited to this co-etiquette session.

Swimming Club Sells Out of Hot-Dogs

Members of Sigma Phi Swimming Club experienced unusual success last Friday evening when they sold coffee, hot-dogs, and candy at the Chadron-Maryville game. It was necessary for the members of the organization to send for more supplies at the half of the game. Lois Coltry, vice-president of the club, was in charge of arrangements for the stand.

Patronize Missourian Advertisers.

Phi Sigma Epsilon Nickelodeon Dance Tomorrow Evening

Ghosts and goblins will be the hosts at a nickelodeon dance at the Country Club for the actives, alumni and pledges of Phi Sigma Epsilon, national social fraternity, tomorrow evening from 9 to 12 o'clock. Guests will be arrayed in costumes in keeping with the theme of the dance, "Halloween."

The social committee, composed of Bill McCurdy, Fred Davidson, Eugene Stephens, and Stanley Miller is in charge of arrangements. Honor guests will be Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Dieterich, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Surray, Mr. and Mrs. Paschal Monk, and Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Persons.

Make Plans for "Y" Formal Dinner

The Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A., religious organizations of the campus are planning a formal dinner to be held at the Country Club the evening of November 11.

The general committee in charge of arrangements includes Lois Langland and Leland Hamilton, co-chairmen; Elizabeth Matheny, Mary Virginia Beck, Ena June Garrett, Marjorie Stone, Ruth Wray, Hope Wray, Wilmer Allison, and Paul Smith. Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith is assisting the committee in making arrangements for the dinner.

Honor guests at the dinner will be President and Mrs. Uel W. Lamkin and Dr. Blanche H. Dow. Other guests will include, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Caulfield, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Dildine, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cooper, Miss Olive S. DeLuce, Miss Day Weems, Miss Minnie B. James, Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith, and Mr. J. L. Zwingle.

Tickets for the dinner will be on sale on the second floor of the administration building today and Monday from 8 to 11 o'clock and from 1 to 4 o'clock, and on Tuesday from 8 to 11 o'clock and from 1 to 5 o'clock. No tickets will be sold after 5 p. m., Tuesday, November 7.

College men are beginning to de-laminate a share in the spotlight of fashion, and though they could not crowd out the College women, they are at least taking their undivided place in this fashion crazed world.

Entertain Tri Sigma Members

Mrs. Bruce Montgomery, assisted by Miss Lois Halley, entertained members of the Sigma Sigma alumnae chapter Tuesday night, October 24, at her home.

Contract bridge was played at four tables, with Miss Winifred Baker receiving the prize for having high score.

Invited guests were Mrs. June Blagg, Mrs. Roy Fisher, Mrs. Paul Foster, Mrs. Edward Myers, Mrs. Louis Kill, Mrs. Harry Mutz, Mrs. Homer Ogden, Mrs. Emmett Scott, Mrs. Paschal Monk, Mrs. Lawrence Wray, Mrs. Lora Meacham, Mrs. Wolfgang Edelmann, Mrs. Richard Sellers, and the Misses Nell Hudson, Helen Kramer, Grace Langan, June Cozine, Daisy Blossom, Edwardena Harrison, Roberta Utterback, and Winifred Baker.

Varsity Villagers Will Honor Faculty

Members of the Women's Householders Association, members of the faculty, and faculty wives will be honor guests at a tea to be given by the Varsity Villagers, at the College Residence, on Sunday afternoon, November 12.

The committees for the tea have been posted on the bulletin board. All committee members and other Varsity Villagers who plan to attend the tea should be present at the co-etiquette session which will be held next Tuesday, at 4 o'clock in Social Hall.

Men's Fashions Prove Colorful Clothing Vogue

Women on the campus have nothing on the men this fall, so far as styled and colorful clothing is concerned. No longer do the men sit meekly by in their dull colored, plain cut suits and let the co-eds monopolize the fashion field. Yes, the men on the campus have actually become "style conscious."

Varied shades of blue, green, and gray predominate in hats, which tend to have lower crowns and wider brims. They flatter Mr. "Northwest Missourian." Bands on hats are less extreme than they were last year and feathers casually stuck into bands are definitely on their way out.

Suitscoats are longer and brighter, with rough fabrics such as Shetlands and tweeds predominating. Fancy weaves in blue, green, heather, brown, and grey shades are featured in suits, and suitscoats with contrasting trousers. Broader shouldered suits coats with suppressed waists bring the men students up to the very last minute in fashion and incidentally remind the co-ed of that hero she dreamed about last night.

To correspond with the rough weave of suitscoats many shirts are made of rough fabrics in light green and tan shades. Blue shirts, however, still seem to find favor among the conservative young men on the campus.

Ties, made to blend with the shirts and coats, have a tendency towards the lighter tones. Solid colors as well as three toned combinations made up from brown, dark wine, blue, and green blend with the new rough tweeds.

Outside the customary black for shoes, "Tomm College" is displaying shoes of reddish colors and often chooses tan.

Letter to Editor

Dear Mr. Editor:
How much good has all this talk about common courtesy done of late? Last Wednesday there was so much confusion that in the back of the auditorium it was impossible to hear only a part of the education week program.

It seems to me, Mr. Editor, that people, who are at least eighteen years of age, and most of them nearly twenty or over, should know the meaning of these words "common courtesy."

In high school when disorders such as this occur, such offenders are asked to leave the room. If college students are going to act like high school students, why not treat them as if they were such?

I know two persons who were talking continually during the assembly this week, Mr. Editor. I believe that if those two persons were asked to leave the assembly just once, and others who would persist in behaving the same way were asked to leave also, the situation would soon be remedied.

I believe in treating people just as they treat others, Mr. Editor. That is until we have educated them to a higher level of thinking.

Graduate Wins Prize Awarded by McCall's

Mrs. D. H. Corbin, graduate of the College in 1917, has recently been awarded a prize sponsored by McCall's magazine. It has been learned here. Mrs. Corbin is the former Myrtle B. Wells of Maryville.

A 4-H Club leader for three years, Mrs. Corbin won the contest by telling how she made a health project in her club into a charm and beauty project. Self-analysis exercises and daily routines of the club girls was a part of the project.

Mrs. Corbin has won two prizes of $100 each in a state radio contest.

Audience Lives in Days When College Was First Started

For an hour Wednesday morning the students and faculty at the regular assembly and some visitors who came out for the program lived in the days of yesterday. The program, in observation of National Education Week, was in the nature of the history of the College.

Mr. Colbert, the first of the present faculty to be elected to teach in the College, spoke with considerable humor of early experiences and methods of the day. "He took me in his buggy," said Mr. Colbert, in telling of his being met upon his arrival here by the president of the board of regents, "and brought me out to see where a building was to be erected." The place was then a weed patch, but the two men had a vision of the college as it is today. The president of the board of regents said it would come to pass in twenty years—it took thirty.

Reminiscences, entertaining as well as instructive to the students of today, made the early days live again. Mr. Colbert, however, could not close his speech, without a point that students could carry away with them. This time he put his advice to the prospective teachers into the words of a small boy to a man who asked him how to teach his dog to do tricks: "Mister, you've got to know more than your dog."

Mr. Cook continued with a backward view over a quarter of a century at MSTC. He spoke of the strides the College has made from the time when classes met all over town to the time when the plant is that of a real college; of the strides the football team has made from 92-0 scores, with Maryville on the little end, to the success of today's team.

Mr. Saylor showed the history of the college by pictures on the screen.

Other parts of the program included a paper on teachers' colleges, written by J. Glaze Baker and read by Addison Hartman, and music by the Women's Ensemble of the College. One of the songs used was "Star of the Northwest," written by Earl Barton Trullinger, a former student, and set to music by P. O. Landon, a former instructor in music.

The committee for National Education Week is as follows: Mr. Homer T. Phillips, chairman; Dr. Henry A. Foster, Miss Olive S. DeLuce, Mr. Paschal Monk, Miss Grace M. Shepherd, and Mr. Norvel Saylor.

RECORD RAIN IN 'THE RAINS CAME'

The heaviest downpour on record in Hollywood's movie history fell during the filming of Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," Louis Bromfield's sensational successful novel, which 20th Century-Fox is currently presenting at the Missouri Theatre, with Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent sharing stellar honors.

It was estimated that 10,000 gallons of water fell each shooting minute, approximating 40 inches of rainfall each day more than most parts of the United States have in a year.

"The Rains Came" features a great supporting cast, including Brenda Joyce, star-maker Zanuck's latest discovery; Nigel Bruce, Maria Ouspenskaya, Joseph Schildkraut, Mary Nash, Jane Darwell, Marjorie Rameau, Henry Travers, and H. B. Warner. Harry Joe Brown was associate producer.

Miss Mabel Claire Winburn, secretary to President Lamkin, is spending a two weeks' vacation at her home in Weston, Missouri.

President and Mrs. Lamkin Are Hosts at Tea

Entertain New Members of the College Faculty

To honor the new members of the College faculty and the new faculty wives, President and Mrs. Uel W. Lamkin entertained at tea last Sunday afternoon.

In the receiving line in the library of the College Residence were, with President and Mrs. Lamkin, Dean and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Dorn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blumenthal, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Klempell, Miss Margaret Owen, Miss Jacinta Kampmeyer, and Miss Janet S. Leeder.

Chrysanthemums and red roses were used throughout the house for decorations. The table in the dining room was lighted with antique candlesticks.

Mrs. Lamkin had as her assistants for the afternoon, Miss Mary Fisher, Mrs. Sterling Surray, Mrs. Norvel Saylor, Mrs. R. T. Wright, Mrs. J. P. Kelly, Mrs. W. N. Stalcup, Mrs. Paschal Monk, Mrs. Ryland Milner, Mr. Margaret Ruth Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kelley's daughter, Mary Ellen. Mrs. Donald Valk and Mrs. W. T. Garrett poured the first hour; Dr. Anna M. Painter and Mrs. J. W. Hake poured the second hour.

"M" Club Will Sponsor College Dance Next Week

An all-college informal dance, sponsored by the "M" Club, athletic organization for men on the campus, will be held next Friday night, November 10, from 9 until 12 o'clock in the Old West Library of the Administration Building.

Honor guests at the dance will be President and Mrs. Uel W. Lamkin, Dean and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Dieterich, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Surray. The chaperons are to be Mr. and Mrs. Ryland Milner and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Stalcup.

Tickets for the dance will be fifty cents a couple and may be purchased from "M" Club members. Those who wish to bring guests must obtain guest cards from the office of the director of personnel for women.

Dance at Open-House

An open-house was held from five until seven o'clock last Friday night at the home of Mrs. D. Bowen. Entertainment consisted of dancing and playing cards after which a chili supper was served to the girls and their guests by their house-mother. Girls staying at the Bowen home are Charlene Jones, Crystal Cooper, Carolyn Petty, Kathleen Reale, Martha Switzer, Betty McClelland, Wilma Adams, Gwendolyn Churchill, and Virginia Bowen. Following the party they attended the football game.

Junior-Senior Party

The juniors and seniors of the Horace Mann High School held a party last Tuesday night. Invited guests included the practice teachers, sponsors, and advisers. Entertainment consisted of Halloween games and dancing, followed by refreshments of ice cream and cookies. Music was furnished by Margarita Collazo-Felix. Co-chairman of the committees were: Entertainment, Belvidene Orain, John Hengeler; invitation, Esther Jean Hall, Marjorie Mitchell; and refreshment, Rita Sturm, Laura Greenwood.

Students Interested in Problems Outside of Campus, Survey Shows

This Way

1. On which side of the sidewalk does a man walk when with one woman or several?

A man walks on the curb side of the pavement at all times, whether with one woman or several. He does not edge himself between them at any time.

2. When a woman is dining out, should she remove her coat, hat, and gloves? If so, how should she take care of them?

When a woman is dining in a public place, she may remove her coat if she desires; she may keep her gloves on, removing them at the table. The gloves and her purse are laid on her lap, or on a chair, but never on the table.

3. When is gum chewing permissible?

Gum chewing is harmless but it detracts from a woman's or a man's charm, grace, and dignity; a wise person, therefore, will chew his or her gum in private. Gum chewing is permissible at such occasions as athletic games, outdoor sports, picnics, and hikes, but even then, cracking, popping, and chewing with the mouth wide open is in very bad taste.

Graduate Sponsors High School Paper

To the office of the Northwest Missourian there came this week a copy of The Blue-Jay News. This mimeographed paper, attractively bound in a limp gray cover, is the work of the students of the Ravenwood High School.

The sponsor of the paper is Miss Irene Nelson, one of the last year's graduates from the College. She is teaching English at Ravenwood. The business manager of the paper is Mr. Reed Hartley, another one of the graduates of the College, in the class of 1936.

The superintendent at Ravenwood is Mr. Ray Keefer, who took his degree from the College in 1932.

Co-Etiquette Session Planned for Thursday

A co-etiquette session will be held on Thursday, November 9, at 7:15 o'clock in Room 224, for those who plan to attend the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. formal dinner at the Country Club on November 11.

Taking a leaf from the current news report from Europe and from the sports reports on TCU's aerial-minded gridiron warriors, the Horned Frog of Texas Christian University recently "bombed" the campus from the air with 2,000 "propaganda sheets" urging students to have their pictures taken immediately. Which is really going up in the air over this problem, isn't it?

Northwestern University will conduct a special school on contemporary events for students' fathers attending the Dads' Day celebration.

Favor Comment on International and National Affairs

By Student Opinion Surveys of America

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 2.—Nearly two thirds of the vast army of students who read more than 850 college and university newspapers believe that their publications should not limit their editorial comment to campus problems, but should also take up matters of national and international importance.

This is the result of a national poll just taken by the Student Opinion Surveys of America, the college newspapers' public opinion news service, that weekly reports surveys taken by means of mathematical samplings. The Northwest Missourian is a cooperating member, aiding in conducting interviews on the College campus, which is one of the key polling institutions from coast to coast.

This sentiment, although well turned toward the positive side, is not a dictate from the readers to the editors, however, for the survey shows that this is clearly a local problem. Readers of large university papers such as the Minneapolis Daily or the Michigan Daily are almost unanimous in their belief that editorial stands should not be limited. But in smaller schools, where papers do not carry wire news of world happenings and campus problems are more intimately felt, student bodies in some instances voted to keep the editorial page strictly to their own affairs.

Section-by-section reports to the question, "Should college newspapers limit their editorial stands to campus problems, or should they discuss national and international questions also?" are, in percentages:

	Campus Natl. etc.
New England	32.....68
Middle Atlantic	41.....59
East Central	34.....66
West Central	33.....67
South	33.....67
Far West	40.....60
NATIONAL AVERAGE	36.....64

A good summary of opinion as found on many campuses was explained by Dan Kase, interviewer for the Campus Collegian at the University of Toledo, in these words: "A great many students, although wishing other than college problems discussed, feel that the editorial department of their papers should contain a greater amount of campus material. City newspapers, they say, is the place for other affairs."

Mr. C. James Velle, formerly head of the music department of the College, and Mrs. Velle have announced the birth of a daughter on September 25. The child has been named Claire Alesse. The Velle family are now living at 121 Newburg Avenue, Catonsville, Md.

Grid Victors Tonight May Win Loop Championship

Bearcats Will Invade Indians' Camp Tonight

Local Team Expects Tough Battle to Win Sixteenth Victory

Undeclared and untied in the last fifteen games, the Maryville Bearcats will attempt to make it sixteen in a row as they tangle with the strong Cape Girardeau Indians tonight at Cape Girardeau.

This is the game of the season for both teams as the winner will take over undisputed first place honors in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association. They are the only unbeaten teams in the conference after four weeks of play. The winner of this contest should succeed in winning the championship now held by the Bearcats.

Statistics show that Maryville holds the edge as its success dates back to the 1937 season. Cape was recently held to a tie by Warrensburg, but according to conference rules, ties do not count in the standings, making Cape on equal footing with Maryville.

Injuries Slight
From the physical standpoint Cape will be at its best for all season. Not one reserve is injured. The return of John Crabtree, big fullback, and Joe Turner, tackle, from the injury list should prove plenty of added strength to the Indians.

Coach Abe Stuber will probably call on the following men for starting berths: Rueseler and All-conference Kites at ends; Hay and Allen, guards; Wright and Turner, tackles; Beall, center; Crabtree, quarterback; McLane and Mayer, halfbacks; and Hoch at fullback.

The Bearcats are also in the best of condition. Most of the injuries have mended including the swollen ankle suffered last week in the Chadron victory by Bernie McLaughlin, senior halfback from Virden, Illinois. Walker, who has been taking care of a knee injury since early in the season, will probably see service. Marion Rogers, also with a bad knee, will be ready to go. Others who are in better shape than for previous games are Andrew Zemles, Gene Hiett, Norman Reital, and Ross Griffith.

Three Play Near Home
Three of the Bearcat letter men will be playing in familiar territory Friday as Co-captain Marion Rogers, his brother Bob, both guards, and Dean Walker, end, are from Jackson, county seat of Cape Girardeau county. These boys will be trying hard to make Cape its sixteenth victim in a row. Many Jackson fans are expected to see the game since they have boys playing on both teams.

A comparison between two teams who clash for the conference leadership is a difficult task. Last year Maryville defeated Cape here 15-0. So far this season the Indians have won four and tied one, totaling fifty-eight points to opponents' eleven. The Bearcats have won six straight so far this season totaling 129 points to the opponents' 7. The strong Washington university Bears of St. Louis have been the only team able to cross the goal line against Maryville. While Maryville was walloping Springfield and Rolla by large scores, Cape edged out Kirksville, 9-3 and drew a tie with Warrensburg. Last week Cape and Maryville beat outstate teams by almost identical scores. Cape beat Carthage, Illinois, college 27-6 while Maryville trounced Chadron, Nebraska, 27-0.

Cape Biggest Threat
With two of the strongest threats out of the way it looks as if Cape Girardeau is the biggest obstacle between Maryville and another championship. Plenty of action is in store and the Bearcats are expected to show more of their power so as to keep the slate clean for another undefeated and untied season.

Coach Milner is rather optimistic as to the outcome of the game but contends that the team which defeats Cape will be one capable of being called champion. He pointed out that his boys are not over confident but are determined to give their rivals a good battle.

The Bearcats probable starting lineup will consist of: Baker and Walker, ends; Green and Griffith, tackles; Marion and Bob Rogers, guards; Loos, center; Bernau, quarterback; Schottel and McLaughlin, halfbacks; and Vogel, fullback.

Scouts, Scouters Will be Guests at Kirksville Game

Invitations have been extended to the 4,000 scouts and scouters of the Pony Express Council and those in the southern edge of the Southwest Iowa Council, Boy Scouts of America to attend the football game here between Kirksville and Maryville, November 10.

Word has been received from the scout executives of both councils indicating that the scouts would be glad to accept the invitation. Reservations have come from various scout troops and indications point to a big day for the scouts and their leaders.

Beta Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, the National Boy Scout service fraternity, with the cooperation of the College athletic department, is sponsoring the affair. Charles W. Churchill, Maryville president of the fraternity, has announced that plans for the day will be under the following committees: Promotion—Charles Churchill; Dean J. W. Jones; M. N. Leavitt; Stan Joseph; Earle F. Hegeman, area; Melvin Tudar, Council Bluffs; M. L. Johnson, Atchison, Kansas; and Henry G. Blanchard, Maryville.

Parade committee: Louis Strader, chairman; Robert Long, Jack Garrett, and Harold Terry.

Seating committee: Lowell Jones, chairman, Donald Simmons, Donald Deere, and Trop McQuire.

Entertainment and music committee: Bob Allen, chairman; Eddie Quillan, Willis Heal, Mr. Sterling Surrey, and Paul Ward.

Registration committee: Kenneth Tebow, chairman; Fred E. Davidson, and Addison Hartman.

Students going home for the week end are urged to promote this activity in their home community. Additional information may be obtained by writing Beta Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, in care of the State Teachers College.

News Flash! Fish Is Found

used as a reward for the return of the fish, sending out this letter: "Naturally I am beginning to be a little disturbed about my mounted fish, especially since the paper last week reported that the persons who took it for a joke had lost it. Won't you pay 50 cents to join me in offering a little reward for its return and to pay for an ad in the paper to the effect that if my fish is returned, no questions will be asked, and the reward will be paid by Miss Blue.

"I have enjoyed the joke as well as the rest but, of course, naturally I want the fish back. I'll appreciate your cooperation." Feeling that they were carrying a joke too far, for it developed that they were really wishing to perpetrate only a practical joke, they were willing to do almost anything to recover the fish. They shelled out pretty liberally. It is said, The money was turned over to Mr. Cooper's secretary.

Today, Mr. Cooper is collecting the reward himself! He is the guilty thief, but he is eligible to receive the reward—the money the first robbers are collecting.

On October 15—just the second day after the fish disappeared—Mr. Cooper found the fish and took it to his own home, where it has been ever since. And the poor robbers have been the ones who have been suffering agony, wondering just what they were going to do about it, though Mr. Cooper has put on the show of anxiety.

L'il Abner's Al Capp on NBC For Sadie Hawkins Fete

In Grandma's day girls were allowed to reverse the normal state of affairs in Leap Year and propose to the man. Now, thanks to the militant efforts of Sadie Hawkins, a hard-boiled but glamorous figure of Al Capp's imagination, the modern miss is entitled to one whole day all the desperate city returns to elusive male.

As a result, the practice of celebrating Sadie Hawkins Day is sweeping the country. Unfortunately, or vice versa, the affair doesn't always take place on the same day in the same place, largely because women are still prone to change their minds.

This year the National Broadcasting Company received inside information that Philadelphia's Sadie Hawkins Day will eventuate on Friday, Nov. 17. It therefore takes delight in presenting the festivities over the NBC Red Network from 11:30 p. m. EST, until the desperate city returns to normal at midnight.

Whether L'il Abner himself will go on the air that night is a moot question, depending on whether or not he has eluded the pursuit of Daisy Mae, for whom every day is Sadie Hawkins Day.

Cape Paper Says Bernau Headed For Little All America

(Cape Girardeau Missourian)
The dubious distinction of trying to stop the rampant Maryville Teachers, who confidently expect to rack up Consecutive Victory No. 16 at the expense of the Teachers here Friday night, falls to the lot of the Teachers College Indians.

Led by Quarterback Bill Bernau, whose bid for Little All-America honors grows greater with each passing week-end, the Bearcats are topping the MIAA Conference undefeated and untied, and so far not even very much opposed.

The Indians, with only a victory over weak Kirksville and a tie with the puncheonless Warrensburg Mules, are very much the underdog, with the so-called experts rating Maryville from four to six touchdowns better.

Story Behind Senate Rulings

offices as falling under the major division; the remainder were to be classified as minor offices.

No More Than Five
The next recommendation was made in the student handbook as follows: "The Student Senate recommends that every student shall belong to at least one campus organization in order to broaden his interests and provide for him a well-rounded college program."

In another recommendation the Senate passed a requirement that "no student shall be a member of more than five campus organizations," believing that participation in excess of that amount would be harmful both to the student and to the organizations to which he belongs. Those organizations which give actively credit are not included in this regulation.

All this came about after the survey had presented the facts to the students. Frank Baker, SGA president has appointed Bill Metz as ECA Recorder, whose duty is to report to the Senate violators of these rulings, and the Senate in turn is to inform the person concerned of the violation.

Enforce Limitation
As a final precaution the Senate has provided that a student-faculty committee, composed of the Personnel Council and three upper-class men, one of whom shall be the EA Recorder, be appointed. The duties of this committee are to require that any individual student shall limit his extra-curricular activities whenever it becomes evident that his health, scholarship, and the welfare of the organization suffer.

The Senate has taken action on controlling the number of offices a student can hold, and the number of organizations he may belong to, however, it has not yet gone beyond a recommendation that every student should belong to at least one campus organization.

Bearcat Claws . . .

by ken tebaw

At last football weather has arrived, mainly due to the fact that Mr. R. E. Baldwin got back from his northern vacation after being unofficial scout on the Chadron team. His efforts were not all in vain, at least.

IDLE THOUGHT. The Bearcats will have my backing to turn those Cape Indians into squaws. Watch them do it.

Norman Reital was in top form last Friday night. He was in the way of practically every enemy pass and did a good job of passing himself. He'll be in the way of all the good tonight and we know the all work of blocking passes is continued. Norm seemed to be the only one who could get up in the air to get at those passes last week.

Another member of the Bearcat backfield who has been doing better in every game he has played in is Bernie McLaughlin. This all-conference back did a fine job of broken field running last Friday. Bernie was able to slip by most anyone. Again I want to say that if Mac is not included on the all-conference line-up this year someone will be making a grave mistake.

There seems to be some comment about Bernau's right end drive for the goal in the second quarter of the Chadron game. To those standing on the west sidelines near the goal, Bill was inside when he stepped over for the touchdown. Apparently the officials did not see it that way. Of course, your reporter's eyes may be getting bad but all I can say is, "Tough luck, Bill. Next time we'll all wear glasses."

It seemed that Maryville's final drives were either lacking in something or Chadron was really playing a strong defensive game. The goal line was just a little too far several times. Outside comment is rather heavy and is swinging to the side that Maryville is slipping. Let me make it known to all those outsiders that Maryville is not slipping. Maryville has not slipped, and Maryville is not going to slip.

Bromo Breckenridge was through the line and on that free ball in plenty speedy time. Instead of waiting for the breaks to come to him, he went out to that break. The hustling spirit that caused Bromo to snag that ball so soon is the same thing that makes Maryville one of the finest teams in the country today.

Cape will have back in her line-up tonight Reece Hay, all-M. I. A. A. tackle last year. John Crabtree, who was injured in the Warrensburg game, will be ready to play tonight leading his team in the battle for first place position in the conference.

As far as defensive teams go Cape is considered strong, but Maryville is rated even stronger. Maryville has had only one touchdown scored against them this season, but that has been due to the fact that the Bearcats would not let the opponents get their hands on the ball. Now fellows, how do you expect these other schools to make any points or hold up their school traditions if they do not have the ball some of the time?

And now to a little basketball. Several college coaches say that Maryville is the team to beat while others consider Cape very strong. Warrensburg, who has no seniors on the squad this year, has copped the loop trophy for the last three years. Obviously, they hope to make this year their fourth straight year as title holders. Maryville has also won the championship three consecutive years.

Warrensburg has added some height to their team this year and will try to convince Maryville that the Bearcats are not the only ones who can "fly so low."

The last paragraph this week goes to Bob Gregory, who did a fine job of playing hide-and-seek with the Chadron Eagles. They just could not see through the dust, I guess.

Will Attend Legislature
Four students of Horace Mann High School will attend the third annual student legislature held at the Maryville High School tomorrow. They are: Franklin Bithos, James Carter, Ralph Tindall, and Belda Dene Holmes.

The Bearcats took to the air last Friday night to defeat a hardy, resisting Chadron, Nebraska, team, 27-0 to win their fifteenth consecutive victory and their sixth straight this year.

Co-captain Bill Bernau went over for Maryville's first touchdown in the first quarter from the 1-yard line. End Bromo Breckenridge pounced on a fumbled ball behind the Eagle goal line for the second corner.

Reital shot a 29-yard pass to Bernie McLaughlin who sprinted forty yards to Maryville's third touchdown. In the final quarter Bernau slipped a pass to Gregory. He dashed along the sidelines to the goal line making Maryville's final touchdown.

Ralph Kurtright made three attempts for extra points by kicking and completed each of them.
